

These have different drip variations. Wherever you see a blue hexagon is what my opinion would be.

This is just playing around with circles and small letters to again represent the different areas.

Again for the five areas, there are five lines to represent each one.
